In Her Own Words...

I am a single mother of two children. I have a son that is 17 years old and I also have a daughter that is 14. The reason I came to Homeward Bound is because I was dealing with domestic violence. My ex-husband and I were fighting so much back then and finally I had enough. So I called 2-1-1 and I ended up going into a shelter right away. While in the shelter I applied to so many different places and after four months I got a call from Homeward Bound that I was accepted.

My main goal to accomplish through Homeward Bound is to be able to get on my feet and to provide for my children. I also want to be able to purchase a home so we will never have to deal with homelessness again.

I can honestly say that my children are my inspiration. They inspire me to be a better person than I was before. They also inspire me to go to work each and every day to be able to provide for them.

My children and I like to go to the park and roller skate we also like to have lunch there at the park. We enjoy watching movies, going bowling, and just spending time with each other.

The one thing that has made me the happiest since enrolling into Homeward Bound is to be able to be in our own place without having to worry...I can see my kids are very happy and that makes me very happy too.

My life changed with Homeward Bound because I feel the responsibility that I have but with a helping hand from people that actually care if you succeed. I live on my own with my children without feeling I have to rely on anyone else to pay my bills.
